Final Bankruptcy Hearing.

The creditors of the bankrupt estate of Henry Snyder have been warned to meet for their final hearing before Referee in Bankruptcy Andrew J. Bowen Dec. 31. The account of the trustee, S. Arnold Peckham, will be filed and passed upon at that time. The amount of dividend to be paid creditors will be decided, and any other business that may be properly brought up will be settled at the same time.

Social Hour Follows Meeting.

The mid-week meeting at the First Congregational church Thursday even-ing proved very pleasant and was well attended. A number of the congregation of the Scotland church were present. In addition to brief, interesting addresses, greetings were extended by the visiting Congregationalists. The remainder of the evening was passed in a delightful social way and was concluded by the serving of refreshments.

20TH C. E. ANNIVERSARY. Officers of Formative Period Speak at

Celebration by Baptist Young People. The 20th anniversary of the formation of the Baptist Y. P. S. C. E. was celebrated in the church vestry Thursday evening. The meeting was opened by an address of welcome by the president Byron C. Willcox, followed by a baritone solo, My Task, by G. H. Mr. Prior was the first president of the society and spoke first president of the society and spoke in a pleasant reminiscent vein of the general work and great results of the Christian Endeavor movement here A fine general line of selected goods the work of individual societies in and the work of individual societies in and around Hartford, specially mentioning how one society made it a part of their work to see that a certain blind Italian girl was taken to church every Sunday in the year.

After a pleasing duet by Miss Katherine Babcock and Mrs. Frank D. Coles, entitled, One Thing of the Lord I Desire, the meeting was addressed by the Rev. J. W. Payne, who was pastor at the time of the formation of the C. E.

Song by five girls, Ila Brown, Georgine Campbell, Emma Gardner, Evelyn Gardner and Josephine Miller.

His talk was most interesting, full of good advice to the young Christian, along the line of doing something for the church of Christ. He said the best results were always secured when one's thoughts were not of self, but were for the benefit and good of others. He spoke definitely of the night of the formation of the order. After a song by five girls, Onward, Christian Soldiers, the closing address was given by the Rev. E. W. Potter.

He told of the society, which was formed 21 years ago in Rockville, when he was pastor there, spoke of the work here, and gave a number of beneficial bits of teaching from his experiences and hope for the success of Endeavor here and everywhere. There was a solo by Miss Grace Bicknell, Close to Thee.

LITTLE TRAMP DOG Saved the Lives of Stratford Family by Giving Fire Alarm.

Awakened at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning by a little yellow dog he had picked up from the streets one cold. stormy day, A. Millar of King street. Stratford, sprang from his bed to find his room filled with smoke and bright red tongues of fire shoeting up from many places in the floor. Calling his wife. Millar hastlly slipped o na pair of trousers, and just as soon as his wife robed herself in a wrapper the couple made for the hall, intending to rush down the stairs to safety. The dog followed them closely, whining with fear.

couple made for the hall, intending to rush down the stairs to safety. The dog followed them closely, whining with fear.

But the stairway was a mass of fames and Millar and his wife were forced to retreat from them to the vacated bedroom. Seeing there was no other way of escape, Millar ripped the clothing off the bed, twisted it into a rope and lowered his wife from the window. Then he ran into an adjoining room, aroused his three children, lowered them to his wife by means of the bedciothes elevator, and before jumping himself he dropped the dog, who had been following him with a blind devation, into the arms of his wife. He tried to save some clothing, but the floor was shaking and just as he leaped from the window the floor caved in and a gush of flame spurted from the place he had left.

By this time the house was a blazing mass, but Millar, lightly clad as he was, ran to the shed—which was really a sort of lean-to—and liberated his terrified horse and a pair of goats which were stabled there.

No alarm was sent to the Stratford fire department and the few neighbors who were awakened by the crackling of the flames could do nothing to save the place. The homeless family was siyen shelter for the remainder of the night by Emil Kistner, who lives just opposite the place burned.

The fire started from a defective flue, which Millar says he had noticed several times, but had neglected to repair. In addition to the loss of all his furniture and clothing, which carried no insurance, Millar had $36 in cash under his pillow. This was also burned. The cellar of the burned building contained a quantity of meat, Millar being a peddler of sausages, frankfurters, etc.

James E. Pettis is not unduly punced up by the wealth suddenly thrust upon him, aand he says he intends to remain in the whipshop of the Henry M. Van Deusen company until spring. After that time he will retire and also change his place of residence.

Mr. Pettis is $5 years of age and was born in New Mariboro, being the son of Cortez and Emily Pettis.

A FITTING REMEMBRANCE St. Paul's Church Presented a Picture of Consecration of Bishop Seabury. The parish of St. Paul's church, in Norwalk, has received from John Newland a handsome colored historical print representing the consecration of Bishop Seabury as first bishop of the American church by three Scottish bishops, November 14, 1784, 125 years ago. Mr. Newland, while in England last summer, visited the rooms of the famous Society for the Propagation of Christian Knowledge, and there saw the print. Recalling that the old St. Paul's was the first church conservation. Paul's was the first church conservat-ed by Bishop Scabury, he at once se-cured the picture. Since his return he has had it handsomely framed and now has presented it to the parish. The picture measures about 3x4 feet.-Thomas A Edison Victor Herbert
